From Slavery To Freedom In One Small Step

Purim is behind us and Passover is right around the corner! As I write these words we are recovering from the latest snow storm and for many of us, the holiday that celebrates spring, rebirth, and renewal cannot come fast enough! There are many reasons that I love the weeks leading up to Passover. But chief among them, is the deep satisfaction that I gain from taking some time to study some of the wisdom that can be found throughout the Haggadah. There are literally thousands of Haggadot and commentaries available to help us prepare for the holiday. Not surprisingly for those who know me, I have the custom of buying a new Haggadah each year to deepen my understanding of Passover, the Seder ritual, and the deep wisdom and meaning that can be found in this multi-layered text of ancient wisdom.

This year, I came across a new Haggadah that I purchased last year entitled: The Night That Unites: Teachings, Stories and Questions from Rabbi Kook, Rabbi Soloveitchik, and Rabbi Carlebach. I was eager to begin my study as this Haggadah came to me last year after all of the Seders had concluded. As I began to pour over the pages of commentary, I found the following wonderful challenge to each of us as we seek to spiritually prepare for the upcoming holiday. The discussion concerns the difference between matzah and hametz (leavened products).

What is the difference between hametz and matzah? The great mystic and kabbalist from Safed, Rabbi Isaac Luria, known as HaAri HaKadosh (1534-1572), explains that hametz rises, which signifies haughtiness, while matzah, does not rise, implying humility.

When we look at the two Hebrew words, hametz and matzah, one notices they contain two of the same letters mem, מ, and tzadi, צ. The words differ only in that hametz contains a het, ה and matzah a hey, ה.

The difference between the letter het, ה and the letter hey, ה, and thereby the difference between the word hametz and matzah, is but a minuscule space, a tiny gap.

חמץ vs. מצה

This tiny gap, we are taught, is enough to change matzah, a life-giving mitzvah, into hametz, a symbol of negativity and evil. Only a fine line separates true humility, which creates closeness to God, from false modesty, which alienates Him.

Reb Shlomo Carlebach expanded on this lesson of contrasting hametz and matzah. Reb Shlomo would say that often the smallest things can make the biggest difference — both for good and bad.

How many marriages are destroyed because of one small thing? The difference between being a good father or a good mother might be just one small thing. In our personal lives, one small change can make a world of difference. What keeps us from becoming free is sometimes a very small thing. Hametz is forbidden even in the smallest amounts because sometimes one crumb can destroy your life. As Passover comes, we're getting rid of all those tiny crumbs. Between redemption and slavery is something so tiny. Real redemption comes when we walk around with the candle and find this tiny trait that's holding us back from becoming who we really want to be (167).

This Passover, as we gather around our Seder Tables with family and friends, I invite you to consider this teaching. What is the "small thing" that is your biggest challenge in life? What is the one small change that you could make in your life that would help bring you from slavery into freedom? Often we look to make big changes and end up failing because we take on too much. As our season of freedom and redemption comes near, with spring and re-birth in the air-- we are going to finally get completely in shape, lose all of the weight that we need to lose, get our entire financial house in order, get our lives completely organized, "fix" all of our personality flaws... This Passover, instead of looking to free ourselves by biting off more than we can chew, our rabbis teach us to take a more manageable and meaningful step by encouraging us to find one small thing that we can change, in the hopes of achieving a more lasting sense of inner redemption and freedom. May each of us be up to the challenge.

Wishing you and your families a Hag Kasher V'Sameach. May you have a healthy, meaningful, and joyous Passover!

Transformations on Many Levels

Pesach not only celebrates our liberation from being slaves, but the beginning our transformation into a holy people. We are reminded that true transformation requires not only changing our physical setting, but also our mindset -- our way of thinking.

Over the past years we have been working to transform our congregation to expand our capabilities and increase our ability to provide more to our members, both new and current. Your lay leadership and your professional staff continue to innovate and create new programs, breathe new life into existing approaches, and provide more opportunities to fulfill our mission as a "Community Building Relationships." While all of these transformations are exciting, your professional staff and lay leadership have limited influence on the key to transforming our congregation. The key is held by each of us. True transformation requires that each individual remain open to changing our mindset, our way of thinking about how we come together as a community.

The past decades of Congregational Judaism have seen a gradual shift away from passive involvement. We are moving away from the model in which our involvement is limited -- coming to services and being led in prayer, listening to sermons, reading articles, and hearing messages provided by others. We remained members but we were not truly engaged. Engagement involves changing our approach and moving forward into a connecting at multiple levels. Transformation to an engaged community requires that each of us continue to take steps -- some big, some small -- to integrate ourselves into our congregation. Building relationships works best if we step up and not sit back passively.

Congregation Torat El's greatest potential lies within each of us. Each time one of us steps forward and increases our engagement, our congregation becomes stronger. Opportunities exist now -- through participation in our services, committees, events, classes, and programs. New opportunities are being developed as we move forward, but you need not wait. If there is something that catches your eye, try it. If there is something you want that you don't see, let us know. If you are not sure, come to something -- a Shabbat service, a class, a meeting, or a program. Any engagement moves us forward individually and collectively.

We need you to not only think of our congregation as yours, but to take ownership as an engaged participant of our community. As each of us take steps forward, we all we grow and benefit. Come, join in.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Jewish Views On The Afterlife:

As Jews, we tend to place our daily focus more on this world, and less on "the world to come."

But what exactly is "the world to come?" Do Jews even believe in heaven? What about the concept of hell? What exactly do Jews believe about what happens after we die? How have Jewish views of the afterlife changed over time? Come and join us as we explore these questions and more. Bring your questions and feel free to bring a friend!

Yasher Koach to our Bat Mitzvah

My name is Peri Wiser and I will celebrate becoming a Bat Mitzvah on April 18th. I live in Howell with my parents, sister Shayna and dog Daisy. I attend Howell Middle School South where I am on the Field Hockey team and Basketball team. I also play recreational basketball with the Howell Basketball Club. In addition to sports, I take art classes, attend Pine Grove Day Camp in the summer and enjoy hanging out with my family and friends. For my mitzvah project, I will be working with Lunch Break in Red Bank, NJ, which provides food, clothing and other necessities to our community. I have previously worked with them to provide Thanksgiving bags to people and families that otherwise would not have enough to eat over the holidays. This time, I will be making goody bags to donate to Lunch Break to be given to those in need. I also plan on donating my time at the facility to help in any way they may need. Please help me support Lunch Break by donating items that I'll include in the goody bags, including: toothbrushes, toothpaste, bar soap, deodorant, dental floss, crackers, fruit cups, tissues, protein bars, gum, mints, etc. You can leave any of these items in the box located in the school lobby before April 1.

Siyyum Bechorim - Calling All First Born (Men and Women) Friday, April 3rd at 8:00am

According to Jewish tradition, the first born son of a mother or father is required to fast on the day before Passover as an expression of thanks for the deliverance of the first born Israelites who were spared from the Tenth plague. It has become customary for synagogues, on the day before Passover, to make a siyyum, a public completion unit of study, which is followed by a seudat mitzvah, thus exempting the first born participants from their obligation to fast. The siyyum will be preceded by the morning minyan and followed by a feast with lots of delicious chametz. Study and feast is held in memory of Esther and Ed Deitelbaum and is sponsored by their family. All are welcome to join us even if you are not a first born.

Sale of Chametz

During the week of Pesach, it is forbidden for any Jew to own chametz. To avoid the unnecessary financial hardship that could result from requiring Jews to dispose of all items that are chametz, it is tradition to sell items of chametz to non-Jews for the week of Pesach. If you would like to sell your chametz to ensure that you abide by the Jewish law of not owning any chametz during the week of Pesach, please fill out the form below and return it to the Temple on or before end of day Wednesday, April 1, 2015.

Dear Rabbi Schonbrun,

I/we _____ (name) would like to appoint you as my/our agent to sell all items of chametz that will be in my/our possession at: _____.

This sale will be effective at 10:30am on Thursday, April 2, 2015.

Mitten Menorah Thank You

Dear Members of the Kitan Zayin Class,

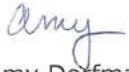

Jewish Family and Children's Service wishes to extend to you our deepest appreciation for the wonderful job you did with the Mitten Menorah to benefit the clients of JF&CS.

Each year JF&CS provides mittens, gloves, hats and scarves to needy families. With so many families out of work at this time it is difficult for them to provide warm mittens or gloves for their children. Not only have these individuals lost their jobs, but many have lost their homes and dignity as well.

Your kindness has made it just a little easier on them knowing that their children will have warm hands this cold winter.

We wish you and your families a happy and safe New Year.

Sincerely,

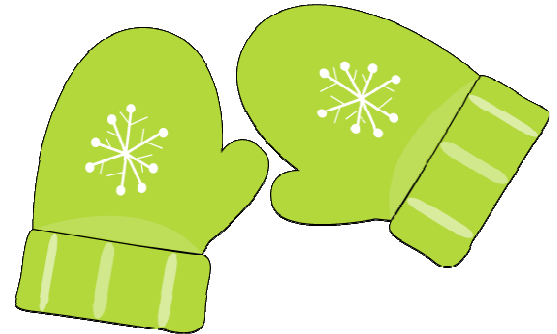

Amy Dorfman, LCSW

Passover Recipe

Ooey Goey Rocky Road Cookies

Ingredients

3 cups powdered sugar
2/3 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
1/4 tsp salt
3 extra large egg whites
1 tbsp vanilla extract
2 cups semisweet chocolate chips
2.5 oz sliced almonds, toasted
1 cup mini marshmallows

Instructions

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F, and line two sheet pans with parchment paper.

In a large bowl, sift together the powdered sugar and cocoa powder. Whisk in the salt. Add the egg whites and vanilla and whisk until combined. Stir in the chocolate chips and almonds.

Use a disher to portion out small mounds on to the parchment paper, then top each cookie with 4-5 marshmallows. Pop into the freezer for 5 minutes to chill slightly (this prevents them from spreading too much in the oven).

Bake for 12-13 minutes until the marshmallows are golden brown. Let the cookies sit on the paper for a few minutes to set, before moving them to a wire rack to cool. Enjoy!!!

Losing Weight: The Best Medicine

Richard Goldstein, former state Health Commissioner of N.J., has opened a state of the art weight management center in Eatontown; Balanced Life Weight Loss Institute. This comprehensive weight loss program offers the best in nutritional education, private fitness training and behavior modification in a boutique setting.

Dr. Goldstein practiced ambulatory general medicine, emergency and aerospace medicine. As Commissioner of Health for N.J., he was one of the most influential health care policy makers, involved in all aspects of public health including the Department's obesity programs. He addressed his own weight issues through a diet and exercise and has studied nutrition and dieting extensively.

As a result of his own weight loss experience, Dr. Rick decided to build a Best Practice weight management program; a center of excellence providing the knowledge and care modalities required to teach people how to manage their weight—all under one roof. It features diet, exercise and behavior modification administered by certified nutritionists and trainers on state of the art "smart" training equipment.

Take advantage of this free consultation offer to meet Dr. Goldstein and his chief nutritionist Joy Allison, known to many as the Asbury Park Press nutritional advice columnist. Call 732-380-7705 to schedule your appointment.
