MY HEART IS IN THE EAST: REFLECTIONS ON THE RECENT FIGHTING IN ISRAEL

As I write these words, Israel has just entered into a ceasefire with Hamas. With thousands of rockets fired into Israel from Gaza over the past week and a half, riots throughout Israel between some of the Arab and Jewish Israeli population, sirens going off at all hours forcing Israelis to run for cover and/or sleep in a miklat, bomb shelter, the actions of this past week have been devastating and extremely disheartening.

I spoke at length about this latest round of fighting over one Shabbat morning last month, but wanted to add some brief observations to consider here as well. In addition to the violence, the loss of lives both of innocent Israelis and Palestinians, and the seemingly intractable situation that Israel finds itself in these days when it comes to the matzav (literally 'situation') as it is known in Israel, the vitriol and ignorance on this side of the ocean and around the world was both frustrating and astounding.

Throughout the past couple of weeks, our oldest daughter has been paying close attention to the news. Between an old classmate who now lives in Israel, our old Israeli au pair, Yemi, who helped care for our kids and lives outside of Tel Aviv, elementary school teachers who are Israeli and instilled in her a sense of ahavat yisrael (love of Israel), other friends and family in Israel, not to mention her social media feeds, she has many points of connection to the situation. Glued to her phone when she was not in school, she found herself spending a lot of time on social media with people who were trying to vilify all Israelis, vilify all Palestinians, or claim to have a clear understanding of a conflict that has raged on for hundreds of thousands of years. She had many questions, showed a lot of empathy, and we did our best to remind her that Israel is often portrayed unfairly, and that there are also innocent Palestinian parents who are just as worried about their children this week as Israeli ones. We did our best to remind her that both of these things can be equally true and tried to teach her that anyone who claims to have a simple answer about the matzav does not have any clue as to the complicated picture that is the Israeli/Palestinian conflict, and that decisions leaders, of whatever type, do not always represent the will of all of the people that they claim to represent. We also spent a good deal of time debriefing and explaining the myriad "memes," tweets, and posts on social media that tend to show only one perspective and thrive on simplicity instead of nuance.

When it came to the anti-Semitism that is so clearly a part of this situation, we did our best to both reassure her, and remind her that unfortunately, anti-Semitism is precisely the thing that must inspire us to be both proud Jews, and human beings who speak out against hatred, intolerance, and bigotry of any kind. As she became aware of things like the Hamas charter that quite literally calls for the expulsion of Jews from Israel, to tactics of BDS that are rooted in anti-Semitism (whose co-founder Omar Barghouti has explicitly explained that he "opposes a Jewish state in any part of Palestine"), to the hate crimes around the United States this past week using anti-Israel sentiment to harass and cause bodily harm to random Jews walking the streets in New York and Los Angeles (among other incidents), we tried to be reassuring. But as Jews, and as parents, it is both frightening and disheartening to see what is going on around the globe, and here at home, when it comes to anti-Semitism that tries to be disguised as "simply anti-Israel."

None of this is simple. All of it is challenging. And so the question becomes, what are we, as American Jews, as parents, as grandparents to do about it? To this I have a few suggestions:

1. Get educated. If you don't feel that you have a good grasp of the situation in Israel, of the history, of the complexities of the situation, it's time to read up. I just finished a wonderful book by Noa Tishby entitled: Israel, A Simple Guide to the Most Misunderstood Country on Earth. Read it, and buy a copy for your children and grandchildren. It is a good place to start.

If you like to read Israel info online, check out everything from left, right and center (haaretz, jpost, timesofisrael, ynetnews).

Look for information in the mainstream American Jewish community – Federation, AIPAC, AJC (more centrist), FIDF, New Israel Fund (if you want a more progressive picture).

To combat anti-Israel sentiment on college campuses, check out standwithus.org (further right, but a good defense for college students, clear and helpful).

If you want to get into the complexities on the ground with organizations in Israel, there are so many to choose from. I have been reading posts from organizations such as "Encounter" and "The Hartman Institute" to name but two. Check them out.

RABBI CONTINUED...

2. Let your representatives know that you care and that you stand with Israel. That does not mean that you have to agree with all of Israel's policies, etc. But preserving the bipartisan American commitment to the State of Israel is so very important. AIPAC is a wonderful and important organization committed to this work.

3. Call, write, email, Facetime friends and family in Israel. Even if it has been a long time, now is the time to let them know that we are thinking about them and we care.

4. Don't be afraid to pray – for peace, for better lives for innocent Israelis and Palestinians who just want to live normal lives, and for wise and thoughtful leaders who can help bring an ever-elusive peace to the Middle East.

My friends, these have been difficult times. But, like the Israel national anthem itself exclaims, we must have tikvah, we must have hope that a solution to these challenges will ultimately be found. May we reach the time when Israelis and Palestinians will live in peace; when Israel will be a place where mutual respect, tolerance and religious co-existence can be shown to thrive. May Israel continue to be an inspiration to the world in so many ways, a safe-haven for Jews everywhere, and a homeland to all Jews who wish to re-connect to their ancient roots. Am Yisrael Chai, I am confident, even in these times, that the people of Israel will continue to live on, will continue to survive, and will one day yet find peace with her neighbors.

PRESIDENT REFLECTIONS

Two years have passed, and later this month I will finish my term as President of Congregation Torat El. It is a bittersweet moment. Sweet because I feel our beloved synagogue is as strong as ever – having weathered a storm that no one could have possibly imagined, and because I am relieved of the daily pressures and responsibilities of the role. Bitter because I will miss those same pressures and responsibilities, and I will miss working so closely with Rabbi Schonbrun, Pam, Lisa, Joanne, the Executive Board and the Board of Trustees.

Like all my predecessors, I began my term with goals, ideas and dreams about what I wanted to accomplish while President. I never thought we would all be locked down, living in a pandemic world for more than a year. It has left us exhausted from the pandemic and left us depleted by the imposition of an endless flurry of rules and limitations. We got through it and survived – and so did CTE.

We managed to keep it together – not just surviving, but thriving – a testament to our community. We quickly learned how to not only adapt, but to embrace modern technology so we could all continue to remain connected to one another. Through Zoom and livestream, we have been able to deliver wonderful, meaningful High Holiday services, daily minyanim and Shabbat services that have been attended by many who might not ordinarily have the opportunity to attend in person. Our vast program offerings were moved to Zoom, enabling everyone to continue to participate in meetings, religious school, adult education, and creative programming.

Our priority was to keep everyone connected. To that end, a phone call system was set up with the Board of Trustees to reach out and check in with all of our members.

I would be remiss if I didn't mention our Capital Campaign, which was launched in the fall of 2018, several months before I took office. The Campaign began with an overwhelming response from our temple family and friends. And at a time when people faced financial challenges, their commitment to our synagogue never wavered. As we all know, we surpassed our goal of $1.5 million and we are thrilled. Thank you again to all those who participated. We are going forward in good financial health.

As my presidency comes to a close, and the world begins to open, I have no doubt that CTE will continue to thrive in the years to come.

It has been an honor to devote my time and energy to a place I call home.

L'Shalom,

Laurie Gross

Mazel Tov to our B'nai Mitzvah

Hello, I am Samuel Fields, and I live in Ocean Township, with my sister Cameron, brother Coby and my parents Rabbi Ellen S. Wolintz-Fields, and Jonathan. I am a seventh grader at The Hebrew Academy of New Jersey (THANJ) in Marlboro. There, I am the Student Council President, where I come up with plans for the student body, for example, every month, we have a mystery famous person video, and Kahoot; the students enjoy it very much. I am proud to be the first seventh grader to be Student Council President at THANJ, and last year I was the only sixth grader on Student Council, when I served as Secretary. The subject I enjoy the most would be Navi, Prophets, because it teaches me lessons that I can use today from Biblical times. I also like science, especially life science, which I am currently studying. In addition to school, I learn at the Tikvah Online Academy, where I learn many topics from Churchill to Aristotle, politics and Israeli history. Currently, I am learning about great speeches of Israeli history, which is very interesting to me. In the summer, I attend the Ramah Sports Academy, where I have made very close friends. There, I played soccer, but I hope to play tennis this summer. The whole atmosphere of a Jewish camp is so much fun, and I can't wait to go back this summer. In my free time, I like to read books about politics; I watch videos about politics and current events, which show a great interest to me. To conclude, for my Bar Mitzvah project, I will be donating to the Alzheimer's Association. In order to donate you can visit their website, or in the future, I will be organizing walks and bake sales, and the money will go to this organization. For my Science Fair project, I talked about this disease and I collected money from the people attending the Science Fair as well. Thank you for giving me this opportunity to write something for everyone! And have a good month!

Shalom! My name is Kinneret Horowitz. I am in seventh grade at Ocean Township Intermediate School where my favorite subject is math. I live in Wayside with my Abba and Eema, my sister Eden and Golda, the guard dog. My Mitzvah project will be to raise money for the organization 'Friends of the IDF.' I will be competing in a fitness and martial art challenge to raise money through donations for the FIDF. My Abba served in the Israeli Defense Force for many years and has always taught me the value of the love and support of Israel, and of serving others. My Eema has taught me the importance of strength, perseverance and of education. I look forward to celebrating my Bat Mitzvah with everyone on June 26!

MEET THE AUTHOR COMES TO ZOOM!

Thursday, July 22, 7:30pm (new date!)

Meet Rachel Beanland
author of *Florence Adler Swims Forever

Florence Adler Swims Forever, set in 1934 Atlantic City, is a family saga that shows how far individuals will go to protect a loved one, and the way secrets can strain the bonds of close relationships. When tragedy strikes the Adler family, its matriarch Esther decides to hide the truth in a mistaken goal of protecting one of her daughters. The elaborate lies that the family engages in strain its members and bring many tensions to the surface. Based on a true story, this is Rachel Beanland's debut novel.

Rachel Beanland is an MFA candidate in creative writing at Virginia Commonwealth University. She lives in Richmond.

There is no charge for Meet the Author events but registration is required.
