MY UPCOMING SABBATICAL IN FEBRUARY 2027

Shanah Tovah my friends. It was so nice celebrating with all of you over the Yamim Noraim, Sukkot and Simchat Torah. Thank you to all of our staff and volunteers who made these days so very special. As some of you have heard, this coming winter/spring, I will be taking a three-month sabbatical – the second one in my tenure as Rabbi of Congregation Torat El. As it is coming up semi-soon (February 7-May 7), I wanted to share some of my thoughts with you about this wonderful opportunity.

What is a Sabbatical? The goal of a sabbatical is to create a designated amount of time for the rabbi to renew and recharge from the daily demands that the rabbinate entails. A sabbatical enables the rabbi to spend some concentrated time studying, learning, and reflecting about his or her rabbinate and the overall health and direction of the community that he or she is privileged to lead. As I begin my 22nd year in the rabbinate, and my 16th with our CTE family, I am filled with tremendous gratitude to our leadership and staff for affording me this opportunity.

What does a rabbi do on sabbatical? There is no one answer to this question. My current plans are just beginning to take shape, but they will likely include spending significant time in Israel, studying, writing, reading the many books in my pile, taking some time with my family, and other personal and professional growth opportunities.

Will I be accessible on sabbatical? In short, the answer is no. Any of you who know me understand how much I consider it a privilege to be with all of you in times of joy and in times of sorrow. You know how much I love to teach, to learn, and to partner with you in the work of creating sacred community. However, in order to continue to have the energy to do these things in a meaningful and effective way long into the future, I will truly have to step out of my traditional role for these three months. In advance, I ask for your forgiveness and understanding for any significant life moments and experiences that I might miss.

Who is going to teach, lead services, be available for pastoral counseling, etc? Our congregation is blessed to have many talented lay leaders and a superb staff. Over the next few months we will be working diligently to ensure that we will have leaders for our services, teachers for our classes, and people available to give divrei Torah in my absence. I feel so blessed to be in such a supportive community and I know that all of you will be in good hands during my brief absence. I am grateful, in advance, for all of their assistance. We will also have a list of available clergy in case of funerals. The office will have an internal document detailing all coverage and contingency plans for the areas that typically fall under my portfolio. If someone has an immediate need for counseling, I would suggest contacting JFCS of Greater Monmouth County. If someone would like to speak to me directly, and the need is not immediate, please call the office when I return, or feel free to set up an appointment with me through Lisa Arnold at 732-531-4410 for when I return. If there are any pastoral emergencies, please contact our executive director, Pam Cardullo, directly. She can be reached during the day in the office at 732-531-4410, or on her cell phone for emergencies only at 732-939-6449.

As I will be away for an extended period of time, it is possible that there will be certain things that we miss, and there will invariably be some things that will have to wait. I will not be checking email or voicemail when I am away. I thank you for your patience and understanding in advance.

MY UPCOMING SABBATICAL IN FEBRUARY 2027

As we head into a new year fresh off of this joyous and wonderful holiday season that we just experienced together, I am eagerly anticipating this tremendous opportunity for my growth and renewal as an individual and as a rabbi. I want to personally thank our staff – Pam, Lisa, Joanne, Ben, Rich and Jameson – for their support in advance of, and during, my sabbatical. I want to thank our president, Alan Morris, Mark Engel and Neil Weitzenkorn (who have helped with some of the ritual planning), as well as our entire executive board and board of trustees for their support and thoughtfulness in anticipation of my sabbatical. Finally, a thank you to my colleagues who will be there in cases of emergency.

I will miss all of you very much, but feel so honored and blessed to be a part of such a unique and capable community. I am confident that you will all manage my temporary absence successfully and I will look forward to seeing you all in May of 2027 and sharing my experiences with you. If you have any questions for me, feel free to contact me in the coming months prior to the start of my sabbatical.

B'todah, in gratitude,

Rabbi Aaron Schonbrun

Lunch and Learn

While many people are familiar with the first five books of Moses, when it comes to the Prophets, many of us are left to wonder whether we learned very much beyond the Haftorah that we memorized for our bar or bat mitzvah! But the Book of Prophets, in particular the Nevi'im Rishonim, the Early Prophets, are filled with action, adventure and political intrigue. Including the books of Joshua, Judges, Samuel (I and II) and Kings (I and II), these books are a central part of our ancient historical narrative that often get left out of our early Jewish education (unless you grew up in Israel!). Come and join us this year as we continue our exploration of these important texts and the lessons they might come to teach us today.

Wednesdays, beginning October 14, 12:00pm

Torah & Technology: Ancient Questions for Modern Times

With the advent of AI and the explosion of the digital revolution in recent decades, humanity has been presented with both unprecedented opportunities and previously unheard of challenges as we enter an uncertain future. What does Judaism have to say about some of the issues raised by these technological advances? What ethical questions emerge from the age of technology in which we are living? And how can exploring ancient wisdom in the face of these profoundly modern phenomena help keep us grounded in our values as we navigate this uncharted territory? Come join us for an introductory look at some of the questions raised by the rise of "Rabbi Google" in the modern age!

Wednesdays, October 14-November 11, 7:30pm In Person

Living with Enough: The Torah of Environmental Stewardship

What does it mean to have "enough"? In her book, To Forever Inhabit This Earth: An Ethic of Enoughness, Rabbi Nina Beth Cardin asks us to consider how we can "house, clothe, and feed eight billion people while leaving enough natural resources for the rest of creation to thrive." Drawing on Jewish wisdom and scientific evidence, Cardin invites us to explore our responsibility to care for the earth and to shift our engagement with the world from seeing it as a "commodity" to embracing it as an extraordinary "gift." Join us as we explore this book together and consider our responsibility to live as stewards of the land we all share.

BBELA SCHMATZ SCHMALTZ

Hello, my name is Adam Sacks. I have been going to Congregation Torat El since I was 0. When I was three I went to Mommy and Me with Grandma Marcia and also Tot Shabbat. I have been attending Hebrew School here as well. For the past year I have been getting Bar Mitzvah lessons with Ben. And now I'm here, ready for my Bar Mitzvah. It is going to be on October 10th. (Make sure not to miss it!) Probably the hardest part of getting ready for my Bar Mitzvah was coming up with a mitzvah project. I decided on a beach cleanup, mostly because we love the beach and it impacts the environment. Also, I love seafood and do not want micro plastics getting into my tuna fish salad! (I know you all can relate!) If anyone wants to join us, the beach cleanup will be on November 1 in Belmar, and I have a bunch of friends already lined up. If you're interested in joining, please let us know. Thank you.

Hi, I'm Shachar Jacob. I am becoming a Bar Mitzvah on October 24. For my Bar Mitzvah project, I am fundraising for the Lakota Wolf Preserve and Howling Woods Farm. I go to Ocean Township Intermediate School and I am a Boy Scout who loves the outdoors. I like fishing and exploring the outdoors, and for future generations to do that, we need to conserve the ecosystem and its animals. That is why I am fundraising for those two causes. The Lakota Wolf Preserve keeps wolves as wild as possible and protects them from harm, while Howling Woods Farm takes wolf-dogs that people originally wanted to keep as pets and gives them a refuge while allowing people to go inside their enclosures but not forcing the wolf-dogs to say hi. Both are doing good in their own respective ways. Please help me support my causes.

MEET THE AUTHOR IN PERSON EVENT!!

Sunday, October 18, 11:00am

Meet Judy Batalion, author of The Last Woman of Warsaw

A debut novel by the critically acclaimed New York Times bestselling author of The Light of Days, The Last Woman of Warsaw follows two very different Jewish women in late 1930s Warsaw. Fanny Zelshinsky is a sophisticated, modern daughter of the city's Jewish elite who wants nothing more than to be recognized as a legitimate artist. Meanwhile, Zosia Dror has left behind her small northeastern shtetl and religious family, and is part of a budding youth movement that believes in social equality and creating a Jewish homeland.

When legendary artist Wanda Petrovsky — both a member of Zosia's movement leadership and Fanny's beloved photography professor — goes missing, the two young women are thrown together in the pursuit of the elusive firebrand. Is Wanda simply hiding, or is her disappearance connected to the rise in anti-semitic laws and university practices? Throughout, the two share in their search for love, meaning, and a sense of home as they grapple with the storm clouds gathering around them.

Judy Batalion is the author of several books of award-winning nonfiction, most recently The Light of Days. Judy's work has appeared in The New York Times, The Washington Post, Vogue, The Forward, Salon, The Jerusalem Post, and many other publications.

Books are available for purchase in the temple office or buy a copy from Bookshop.org (to support independent bookstores) or amazon.com.
